A Prayer for the Confirmand

Almighty and everliving God, let your fatherly hand ever be over this your servant Haley Susan; let your Holy Spirit ever be with her; and so lead her in the knowledge and obedience of your Word, that she may serve you in this life, and dwell with you in the life to come; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

(Common Prayer)

Stabat Mater

At the cross her vigil keeping, stood the mournful
mother weeping, where he hung, the dying Lord:
there she waited in her anguish, seeing Christ in torment languish, in her heart the piercing sword.

With what pain and desolation, with what grief and resignation, Mary watched her dying son.
Deep the woe of her affliction, when she saw the crucifixion of the sole-begotten one.

Him she saw for our salvation mocked with cruel acclamation, scourged, and crowned with thorns entwined;

saw him then from judgment taken, and in death by all forsaken, till his spirit he resigned.

Who, on Christ's dear mother gazing, pierced by anguish
so amazing, born of woman, would not weep?
Who, on Christ's dear mother thinking, such a cup of sorrow drinking, would not share her sorrows deep?

Jesus, may her deep devotion stir in me the same emotion, Fount of love, Redeemer kind;
that my heart fresh ardor gaining, and a purer
love attaining, may with thee acceptance find.

The Deacons' Corner ...

Our Lenten and Easter Journey

If you (like me) have a few grey hairs, you might remember some of the wise sayings (one liners) penned by the famous Yogi Berra:

- We're lost, but we're making good time.
- If you come to a fork in the road, take it.
- I knew I was going to take the wrong train so I left early.

But we all know what the most famous of Yogi's one liners is, "It ain't over till it's over."

- The women weeping in front of the cross thought it was over.
- The soldier who pierced Jesus' side thought it was over.
- Pilot, when Joseph of Arimathea asked for His body, thought it was over.
- The Jewish leaders who witnessed the crucifixion thought it was over.
- The women who went to the tomb to prepare Jesus' body thought it was over.
- The disciples locked in the upper room thought it was over.

Not one of them, in their view, knew that "It ain't over till it's over."

You and I will experience the most Holiest of Weeks beginning with Palm Sunday. The events of Holy Week establish the firm foundation of our Faith. We Christians stand on this historical reality as we grow and mature in our walk together. It's by faith, hope and love that you and I live our lives knowing that God has promised to come again through Jesus Christ Our Lord and Savior. We have confidence, joy and peace knowing "It ain't over till it's over."

As we travel through the remainder of Lent and into Holy Week, let us walk closely with God The Father, God The Son and God The Holy Spirit.

Your Faithful Servant,
Bill Sexton, Archdeacon

Be Amazed at Your Salvation

Consider first and foremost that we are saved by Faith through grace; salvation is free and all we have to do is receive it. Then consider the benefits. We become children of God; adopted to be Christ's siblings (Romans 8:15). We become heirs to the new heaven and new earth (Galatians 3:29); receive new bodies (Romans 8:23); live with God, and are with Him and worship Him always (Revelation 21:3). This is truly amazing.

We may have family or friends who are lost or unsure. We want nothing more than to have them share in God's heavenly kingdom. There is nothing we can do to save them; it is solely up to them and God. God elects who he wills. We can, however, pray for them and encourage them through our amazement of salvation. "For God has not destined us for wrath, but to obtain salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ" (1 Thessalonians 5:9).

In a world and culture which bombards us with news of decaying moral standards, it can sometimes be hard to maintain a constant level of zeal, to be a living example of the extraordinary joy of the Lord. But "hold fast to what is good" (Romans 12:9) and show how amazing salvation is to those you love.

I can confirm there are encouraging signs, counter to the secular culture. On a Friday in February, our Bishop-retired Mark and I went up to Worcester Poly Tech. My son Nathan asked Mark to speak at his college Bible study/worship. It was refreshing to see a group of young adults (about 40 in all) praising God and learning His Word.

"Therefore we must pay much closer attention to what we have heard, lest we drift away from it. For since the message declared by angels proved to be reliable, and every transgression or disobedience received a just retribution, how shall we escape if we neglect such a great salvation? It was declared at first by the Lord, and it was attested to us by those who heard, while God also bore witness by signs and wonders and various miracles and by gifts of the Holy Spirit distributed according to his will” (Hebrews 2:1-4).

God’s peace to you,
Doug Stomberg

*Amazing Grace, how sweet the sound,
That saved a wretch like me.
I once was lost but now am found,
Was blind, but now I see.*

Reflections from the Bishop-retired ...

“Thanks be to God, who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Corinthians 15:57).

The Reverend David A. Ryan was the Rector of our predecessor congregation (The Episcopal Church of St. Andrew & St. Philip) for thirty-one years (1965-1996). For three generations of believers he was the constant in their life. He was their ever-present and loving pastor, a passionate witness of the values of Gospel proclamation and a living example of a complete trust in Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior. He was our confidant, counselor, priest and friend – our trusted “Father in God.”

David Ryan was a wonderful pastor who diligently cared for his flock. He and his beloved wife Connie were tremendous examples of sacrificial living for the furthering of the kingdom of God. There are hundreds upon hundreds of us who owe a great debt of gratitude to David and Connie for their unwavering dedication to the care of our souls.

On November 5, 2015, David Ryan finished his earthly pilgrimage and entered into the eternal presence of his Master. On March 27, 2016, we will for the first time celebrate Easter Sunday with David now cheering us on with that “great cloud of witnesses” (Hebrews 12:1) in the company of heaven.

Personally, I am so very grateful for the life and ministry of The Reverend David A. Ryan, priest in the Church Universal, especially for his patient and loving mentoring of me in my formative years as a Christian servant. His gifts were unique, his kindness immense, his character steady, his charity grand, and his Christian heart large.

This Holy Week of 2016 here at the Church of The Apostles, as we walk with Christ through his suffering on the Cross and onto the empty tomb and his glorious Resurrection, we shall with joy and thankfulness remember the life well lived for Jesus by David A. Ryan.

“If then you have been raised with Christ, seek the things that are above, where Christ is, seated at the right hand of God” (Colossians 3:1). For “Christ has entered, not into a sanctuary made with hands, a copy of the true one, but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God on our behalf” (Hebrews 9:24).

The Reverend Mark R. Galloway

Sleep: A Gift from God

Life can be hectic. Between work, family and other commitments, there is often too much on our schedule to fit into one day. A full schedule means that something has to give. If you're like many people, you may choose to give up a full night of sleep.

Research suggests that the typical adult needs seven to eight hours of sleep every night to function properly and remain healthy. However, many people push the lower end of that range – in fact, twenty percent of Americans sleep less than five hours a night.

Sleep experts say that even an hour less sleep a few nights a week is enough to cause irritability, apathy, memory problems and depression. Lack of sleep doesn't just affect the brain. It can also affect your overall bodily health in a number of ways – we put ourselves at risk of premature aging, weight gain, and diseases ranging from colds and flu to heart disease. What God accomplishes in our bodies while we drift off to sleep is nothing short of miraculous. While we do nothing, God replenishes our energy, rebuilds and restores our cells, and reorganizes information in our brains.

There are many resources online that offer practical ways that you can increase the quality and quantity of sleep. Here are a few:

- Adopt a routine schedule: Try to maintain a regular, routine sleep/wake schedule. That is, go to bed at the same time every night and awaken at the same time each morning no matter how sleepy you are.
- Avoid taking daytime naps: People who nap have more difficulty falling asleep at nighttime. If you can skip your nap, you will find that you will be able to not only fall asleep faster, but will be able to better maintain your sleep during the nighttime. But also note that power naps no more than thirty minutes are beneficial and have been proven to be a powerful and highly efficient way to temporarily compensate for an inadequate night's sleep.
- Avoid caffeine and alcohol: Caffeine is a brain stimulant that interferes with good sleep. Alcohol may seem to initially help you fall asleep, however it causes early morning awakenings and difficulty returning to sleep. They are also both diuretics that may cause an urge to urinate in the middle of the night.

- Use the bedroom for what it's meant to be used for: Don't get into the habit of watching TV, eating, or performing any other activities in your bed. You want to train your brain into thinking that once you are in bed it is time to go to sleep.
- Avoid nighttime fluids: Drinking fluids three hours prior to sleep causes an urge to urinate in the middle of the night. Try to drink fluids in the first half of the day, instead of at nighttime.
- Find a healthy outlet for managing stress while you're awake. One of the biggest contributors to sleep loss is a mind that just won't shut off. Routine exercise releases endorphins that decrease stress. This in turn increases deep sleep. Get at least thirty minutes of cardiovascular exercise daily, such as walking, running, or biking. Try to avoid doing this in the evenings, however, as the endorphins can cause brain stimulation if performed within three hours of sleep.
- If you can't fall asleep: If you are unable to fall asleep within thirty minutes, get up and do something relaxing, such as reading (how about the Bible?). Then go back to bed once you feel sleepy.

The above suggestions are good advice for everyone but as believers we know we can go to our Lord at any time. So meditate on the Lord and the things of God as you go to bed. David testified, "I will lie down and sleep in peace, for you alone, O LORD, make me dwell in safety" (Psalm 4:8).

To have our mind on God means to have Him in our thoughts; to think of His goodness and greatness. Consider what he is doing around you and be thankful for His goodness. The prophet Isaiah had the right idea when he said: "You keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on you, because he trusts in you" (Isaiah 26:3).

A suggestion for spiritual comfort to help you prepare for sleep can be found in The Daily Office book (blue book). It is a wonderful resource to keep on your nightstand as you will find prayers for the early evening and close of day (pp. 65 & 66). If you would like a copy of this book, please see Barbara Bickerstaff.

It's All About the Bunny?

I'm a crafty sort of person. I admit it! Over the years I've delved into a variety of handcrafts from sewing and knitting to painting and woodworking. I rarely sit down with empty hands. As a result of the electronic age we live in, I receive emails from a number of local craft stores and national suppliers. You can imagine my surprise when I opened my computer one morning during the first week in Lent and saw the memo line of an email from a local craft store that read: "It's all about the Bunny!" I nearly screamed at my computer, "No, it's not! It's all about the Cross!"

Many of us prepare for Easter by buying new clothes; decorating, hiding or rolling eggs; planning a family gathering with a festive dinner; and, of course, enjoying those delicious chocolate bunnies and maybe the marshmallow ones, too! Some traditions suggest that from a Christian perspective, Easter eggs represent Jesus' emergence from the tomb and his Resurrection. The custom of decorating eggs can be seen as the end of a period of penance and abstinence from rich foods and subsequently eating them is part of the Easter celebration. Easter egg rolls, among the most famous one being the White House Easter Egg Roll held on the White House lawn on Easter Monday, have been looked at as symbolic of the rolling away of the stone that blocked the entrance to Jesus' tomb. Rabbits are well known as prolific procreators and an ancient symbol of new life. In and of themselves, there is nothing wrong with these traditions, but they are not the Easter story!

Beginning with the Story of Creation, we learned that God created man, in the form of Adam and Eve, for relationship with himself. "Let us make man in our image, after our likeness..." (Genesis 1:26). However, temptation entered into the garden and in their human weakness, Adam and Eve gave way to it and became separated from God through sin. Throughout the generations God called his people back into relationship with himself "Come to me; hear, that your soul may live; and I will make with you an everlasting covenant" (Isaiah 55:3), but temptation was too great and they went on sinning against him. “The wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life through Christ Jesus our Lord” (Romans 6:23). So God, loving us as he does, had a plan to reconcile man to himself. “He gave his only Son that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life” (John 3:16). During his short life on earth Jesus taught about the Truth of God and in his last days he “humbled himself by becoming obedient to the point of death, even death on a cross” (Philippians 2:8).

That is not the end of the story. Three days after that agonizing death, Jesus rose from the tomb that we might be saved from our sins and have everlasting life with the Triune God: Father, Son and Holy Spirit. “We know that Christ, being raised from the dead, will never die again; death no longer has dominion over him. For the death he died he died to sin, once for all, but the life he lives he lives to God. So you also must consider yourselves dead to sin and alive to God in Christ Jesus” (Romans 6:9-11). It was only the blood of Jesus that allowed sinful man to have fellowship with the holy God.

Jesus Christ is alive today, brothers and sisters! “Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If any one hears my voice and opens the door, I will come in to him and eat with him and he with me” (Revelation 3:20). He waits for us to welcome him in. As we continue through these final days of Lent, look toward our walk in Jerusalem with Jesus during Holy Week, and finally arrive at the empty tomb on Easter, I pray that our hearts will be open to God’s call as we remember all that Jesus did for us on the Cross. “Thanks be to God, who gives us the victory of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Corinthians 15:57).

May you have a blessed Holy Week and glorious Easter!

The Power, Usefulness & Efficacy of Prayer

At Church of The Apostles, we have many opportunities to pray: from the faithful members who create the Pocket Prayer Shawls, to those who pray for the people on our Prayer List, to the Wednesday Evening Prayer service, to the Elders, Deacons and Lady Dignitaries who pray for those with special needs at our Sunday services. It seems so easy for us to say a prayer and then walk away.

We have been privileged to witness the effects of solitary and communal prayer, especially when we ask for God's plan to be fulfilled, not necessarily our own plan. We certainly tell God what our concerns are but we rely on Him to handle things how He sees fit. In the Apostles' Family, we need only to look at our friends Jim and Linda Quinn. Without the power of prayer, who knows from where the fortitude to keep on searching for a medical answer would have come?

What a difference it is to be the one being prayed for instead of the one praying. I never realized how dramatic this is until we visited with a niece and nephew who are facing a dire situation. These are people who know Christ and accept the sovereignty of God. My niece talked of the comfort and peace that came with a gift of a Prayer Shawl from a local congregation. The strength that comes from having a stranger trustingly ask God to hold someone and their family in the palm of His hand is immeasurable.

When I chat with God, after praising Him, there are specific types of prayer I employ: thanks for the blessings in my life, forgiveness for my many sins, strength to fight my sinful nature and finally prayers of supplication. I try to ask for His solution to my problems.

Let Us Pray ...

A Prayer for Our Church

MERCIFUL LORD, who established the Church for your glory, hear our prayer to bless the Church of The Apostles as we search for a new Superintendent. May you give the Call Committee wisdom and discernment as they review candidates. Also may the Holy Spirit be stirring the heart of the man to be led to this position.

Lord, continue to encourage and strengthen the Elders and Deacons during this interim period. May we, the Congregation, the royal priesthood of believers, be moved to take our part and pray with Faith for our new Bishop-to-be.

Thank you, Lord, for all the blessings you have given us in our leadership, past and present, and this church family. May we continue to grow in the Gospel and Faith through our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

—Lady Linda Greco

A Prayer for those in Ministry

ALMIGHTY GOD, the giver of all good gifts, in your divine providence you have appointed various orders in your Church: Give your grace, we humbly pray, to all who are called to any office and ministry for your people; and so fill them with the truth of your doctrine and clothe them with holiness of life, that they may faithfully serve before you, to the glory of your great Name and for the benefit of your holy Church; through Jesus Christ our Lord, who lives and reigns with you, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever. Amen.
